Wedding at the Château

Organize your own event at the Château de Cognac

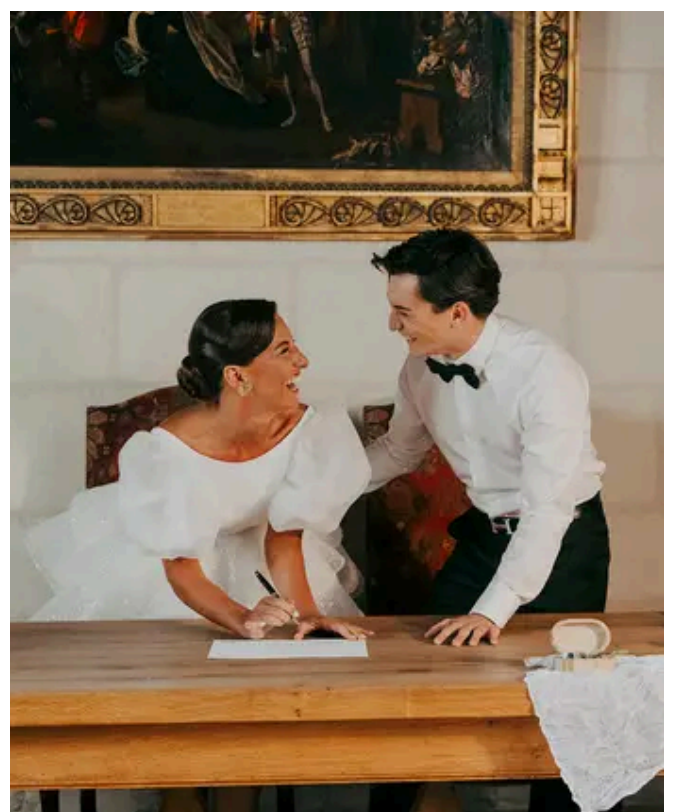

The Château de Cognac, overlooking the Charente River, was originally a fortress in the 10th century built to stop Norman invasions, and later, in the 15th century, a seigneurial residence where one of France's most illustrious kings, François I, was born.

Over the centuries, the Château evolved and expanded. From a seigneurial residence, it became a strategic site where power, history, and the art of living intersected. Its walls, steeped in memory, still bear witness to these different eras today, making the site a true heritage emblem of the region.

Baron Otard, who founded his Cognac House in 1795, quickly realized how the thickness of the walls provided exceptional and unique conditions (98% humidity, 15°C year-round) for aging his eaux-de-vie. He then acquired the Château, thus saving it from destruction.

Host your event in a unique and unusual venue, a symbol of the city of Cognac.
